

12

The Evolution Of the Greenhouse in Spain

Recent developments that have suffered this sector is marked by new technologies implemented, which has resulted in improved productivity and quality.

26

The Organoleptic Quality of the Fruit

The sensory analysis is a very useful tool for determining what is a fruit quality from the point of view organoleptic. That is, which express the taste and flavor, attributes that increasingly valued more consumers.

38

The Poinsettia Crop in Southern Europe

We must adapt our knowledge to the needs of the plants. That has been the recipe of Fernando Fernandez, a cultivator Portuguese, who has developed poinsettias of excellent quality.

44

Comparison of New Varieties of Melon Type "Toad Skin"

This study of the Foundation Ruralcaja highlights the varieties of melon Valverde (Clause) and Nicolas (Syngenta) as the most homogeneous and higher quality, and at a lower level to Sancho (Syngenta) and Montijo (Nunhems).

54

The Environmental Control in Greenhouses: Radiation

The handling of the greenhouse is presented as the determinant of the success of the production, in which radiation is a element that should be monitored.

72

Proposals for the Autumn and Winter

Consumers looking for the surprise. An increasing number of companies that cater to this demand and strive to create new products that lead to the purchase. The arguments are as varied as human psychology.

74

México, latin power

One of the great Latin American agriculture has the challenge of forming highly-qualified technicians to meet the needs of local producers.